

US Army Aviation & Missile Command
William (Bill) E. Andrews, Jr.
Deputy Executive Director
Integrated Materiel
Management Center
Redstone Arsenal, Alabama

Born in Petersburg, Virginia, Mr. Andrews graduated with a Bachelors Degree in Marketing from Virginia Commonwealth University in 1982. He obtained a Masters in Business Administration from NOVA Southeastern University in 1999.

In February 1984, he entered the Army Materiel Command Intern Training Program at Red River Army Depot. Upon completion of the formal course work in October of 1984, he transferred to the US Army Missile Command where he was employed by the then Missile Logistics Center. He has served in numerous capacities throughout what is now known as the Integrated Materiel Management Center (IMMC).

Mr. Andrews' first assignment was in support of the Stinger and HAWK weapon systems. He continued that logistics support on the PATRIOT weapon systems as an item manager and supervisor through 1989. Mr. Andrews then served in the Materiel Management Directorate budget division through 1990. From there through 1995, Mr. Andrews served as a supervisor in the Materiel Fielding Division, Readiness Directorate, with responsibility for Total Package Fielding of all MICOM weapon systems. Mr. Andrews then served for three years in PEO Air and Missile Defense as the senior logistician until 1998. From 1998 until February of 2003 Mr. Andrews served as branch and then division chief in the Maintenance Directorate responsible for depot maintenance funding and workload for all aviation and missile organic and contract programs. In February 2003, Mr. Andrews was selected as the Director of the Attack Directorate; with full responsibility for total logistics support for the Apache weapon system. Since October 2006, Mr. Andrews has served as the Deputy Executive Director, IMMC, responsible to execute world-wide logistics support to all AMCOM Aviation and Missile weapons platform. Mr. Andrews also serves as the Activity Career Program Manager (ACPM) for the supply career program for the IMMC.

Mr. Andrews has received numerous monetary and non-monetary awards to include the Commander's Award for Civilian Service (1995) and the Superior Civilian Service Award (2004). Mr. Andrews is a graduate of the Army Logistics and Acquisition Management Program (LOGAMP) and is a certified member of the Army Acquisition Corps. He has achieved level III certification in Acquisition Logistics and level II certification in Program Management.